FOUNDER OF VIMANEEA.COM

I am a stay at home mom of two beautiful kids. I worked as an Engineer, and after ten years of working in the corporate world, I decided it's time to explore other opportunities while spending my time with my kids. I love to be involved in my kids day to day activities. Together we learn and explore through different activities we do at home. I believe in project-based Learning. So on any given day you would find us doing a lot of fun projects which involves Arts and Science. On my website, you will find my honest reviews about products which indeed provide fun while playing and teach while at play. I review products and books which I honestly believe are worth parents time. You would also find my views and suggestions about parenting and fun crafts, recipes for kids.
